INTRODUCTION

From December 1971 until August 1978, I was Director of Jewish Studies at the King David High School in Liverpool. I have in my private archives a lot of material from this period which includes the minutes of various Committees whose meetings I attended, numerous memoranda and correspondence. Since this material is virtually irreplaceable, I have photocopied it and bound it together in book-form, for the benefit of those wishing to research Jewish education in Liverpool in the 1970s. From my book "My Fight for Yiddishkeit," one can see how all this material "links together."

[Amongst the material, there is a letter which is connected with two of the headings in this book. I have therefore intentionally included it under each of these two headings.]
