Dear Mr Subhash

I am writing to thank you for my order ID IMS1263867105204, which arrived safely just over a week after my ordering it.

However my second order ID, IMS1264067172025 which was ordered just a few days later has not yet arrived although nearly three weeks have elapsed. Can you please check that this order has been sent.

Furthermore although this order is by Indian Postal service, you debited my VISA at the courier rate, which about $17 higher.

I can think of 3 ways in which you can refund me this $17.

1. Via VISA
2. By Western Union. My details for such a transfer are name: Chaim Simons Address: P.O. Box 1775, Kiryat Arba 90100 Israel, Israel Identity no: 017600651 Nearest Western Union Agency: Kiryat Arba Post Office, 90100 Israel
3. I am planning to purchase further maps from your store and you could give me a credit of $17 on such a purchase.

Please let me know which method you prefer to use to refund me this $17.

With thanks and regards

George Kennedy Britz Hospital in Mumbai

A book I was reading referred to a private hospital in Mumbai whose name is the George Kennedy Britz Hospital. It stated that this hospital is situated on a small street near to the ocean. Despite extensive searches, I have not found reference to this hospital in any other source. Can any user please supply me with information on this hospital. Thank you. Simonschaim \(talk\) 10:11, 31 January 2010 (UTC)

I googled ["George Kennedy Britz"] and it found nothing. What's the book? ←Baseball Bugs ^{What's up, Doc?} carrots→ 10:19, 31 January 2010 (UTC)

Was it a fiction or non-fiction book? --Defender of torch \(talk\) 10:22, 31 January 2010 (UTC)

That's what I'm getting at. For example, in the Law & Order TV series, there is frequent reference to the non-existent "Hudson University". ←Baseball Bugs ^{What's up, Doc?} carrots→ 10:27, 31 January 2010 (UTC)

It is a non-fiction book. Simonschaim \(talk\) 11:14, 31 January 2010 (UTC)

street name in Mumbai

In the Byculla area of South Mumbai, there is a street called Ramchandra Bhatt Marg. Can a user please tell me: 1) The origin of this street name. 2) In a map of Mumbai this street name is followed by, within brackets, Babula Tank Road. Is this an alternative name or a former name for this street. If it is a former name, when was the name changed to Ramchandra Bhatt Marg? Thank you Simonschaim \(talk\) 07:59, 4 August 2010 (UTC)

What you call Byculla is actually pronounced Bhaikhala

Crossing over from one Indian state to another Indian state

Can a user please give me the answers to the following questions regarding crossing over from one Indian state to another Indian state (e.g. Rajasthan to Uttar Pradesh): 1) Is there a border check point? 2) Does one have to show, for an Indian national some internal Indian identification document, or for a foreigner a passport? 3) Does one have to pay to cross such a border? Thank you. () 09:17, 21 February 2010 (UTC)

Transport across states in India does not usually require identification details.

Passage is free. However, custom duties are to be paid for certain goods if they are transferred across states.

Thank you. () 08:48, 23 February 2010 (UTC)

For a foreigner, make sure you have some sort of ID (a international Driver's licence). Stuff like liquor or rice is sometimes cannot be transported across state lines because of different duty structures. For example you cannot bring liquor into or take rice out of .-- () 20:31, 23 February 2010 (UTC)

1. In major roads there is a sign and sometimes a post, which checks trucks for Octroi or some such.
2. NO ID or passport.
3. No payment to cross the border.

re deluxe bus from Mumbai to Ahmedabad

Chaim Simons <chaimsimons@gmail.com>

Tue, Feb 2, 2010 at 1:17 PM

I am at present doing some research and one of the points of which I require information is in connection with a bus which went from Mumbai to Ahmedabad in September 2005. This bus was a luxury bus with comfortable chairs. It departed from Mumbai at 20.30 and arrived in Ahmedabad at 7.30 the following morning. The fare was 500 Indian Rupees.

I would be grateful if you could please give me the answers to the following questions:

1. Was this bus operated by Raj National Express or by some other bus company?
2. Which route did it take from Mumbai to Ahmedabad?
3. Where were the stops on this journey and how long was each stop?

With thanks and regards.

From personal experience - 10am is probably too early. Some shops do open then, but quite a few wait until 11 or even 11.30 am before the shutters roll-up.

I'd strongly recommend (given the current 41oC in Ahmedabad!) that you've better off shopping in the slightly cooler evening time.

Wealthy village in Rajasthan desert India

I read about a small village situated in the Rajasthan desert of India. It is located within the state of Rajasthan and it seems to be about one and a half hours' car ride from the border with the state of Uttar Pradesh. This village is inhabited by very wealthy people. The houses in this village are magnificent large villas with their own private swimming pools, and its inhabitants have televisions and expensive cars. However despite extensive research I have been unable to determine the name of this small village, or even its location. Can any user please assist me? Thank you. Thank you. However from Google Maps one can see that the journey from the the border of Uttar Pradesh to Jaisalmer is of about 12 hours duration. The small village I am looking for is much closer to the Uttar Pradesh border. Simonschaim \(talk\) 08:40, 9 February 2010 (UTC)

RE: Wealthy village in Rajasthan - Utrad - 08-28-2010 01:45 PM

Hello, Rajasthan is located in the northwestern part of the subcontinent. It is bounded on the west and northwest by Pakistan, on the north and northeast by the states of Punjab, Haryana, and Uttar Pradesh, on the east and southeast by the states of Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh, and on the southwest by the state of Gujarat. The Tropic of Cancer passes through its southern tip in the Banswara district. The state has an area of 132,140 square miles (342,239 square kilometres). The capital city is Jaipur.

RE: Wealthy village in Rajasthan - nikjerry - 09-11-2010 02:35 PM

I have read about this wealthy village in Rajasthan and I also have read this all of the information and I also want to say that the State has hotels of star and non star category catering to the needs of the tourists visiting Rajasthan. Moreover it has resorts, restaurants and cafes which cater to the needs of all segment of travelers.

I have rad this whole stuff and the thing is that I want to say you that Jaipu Khan Langa is one of the most famous drummers of the Langa community in western Rajasthan. Langa is the second largest of hereditary caste musicians whose music has been supported by wealthy landlords.

Habayit Hayehudi in Varanasi

Dear Nehama

I am doing a research project and one of the points in this research concerns Habayit Hayehudi at Varanasi. I read that you and your husband conducted a Seder there. I would therefore be grateful if you could give me the following information regarding this Habayit Hayehudi:

- On what date was it established and by whom?
- Is it under the auspices of the Breslov Hasidim?
- What is its address and how many rooms are there in the building, and who owns the building?
- Is it open the whole year round?
- What do its activities include and how many people attend these activities?
- Who are the people who have been running it since its inception?

With thanks and best wishes.

Dear Mr. Kailash Nishad

I am at present doing academic research which includes "Habayit Hayehudi" (the Jewish House). I understand that this group regularly rented your Ganga Guest House, B30/250A Nagwa near Assi Ghat in Varanasi for their activities. I would be grateful if you could give me the answers to the following questions.

- 1) Did they rent the entire or just part of your guest house and if just part, which part?
- 2) For which periods of the year did they rent it?
- 3) Did they also use the roof of the guest house for their activities?
- 4) I understand that they also prepared meals for the Jews who visited "Habayit Hayehudi" at the guest house. Did they use the guest house kitchen or were all the meals prepared in the part of the guest house which they had rented?

With thanks and regards,

Dr. Chaim Simons

The Luxury Trains

meaning of Gha

Can any user please tell me what the letters Gha before an address in Kathmandu, Nepal stand for? Thank you. Simonschaim \(talk\) 14:56, 12 July 2010 (UTC)

At first look in Google, it seems that "Gha" stands for the fourth letter of the Nepali alphabet. It would be a reasonable guess that their word for "street" starts with that letter. More research needed. ←Baseball Bugs What's up, Doc? carrots→ 15:28, 12 July 2010 (UTC)

गल्ली ('galli'), which means side-street or alley. A bit confused why they put 'Gha' in English rather than 'Ga', although 'Ga' seems in use as well, see <http://www.np.emb-japan.go.jp/org.html>. --Soman \(talk\) 15:50, 12 July 2010 (UTC)

However in the following list of names (found in Google) BOTH Ga and Gha are used: "343, AALB00090, LIFE MEMBERS, Kathmandu, Bina Shrestha (Dr.) Kamaladi Ga 2-753 ... 346, AALB00093, LIFE MEMBERS, Kathmandu, Bed Ram Pokharel, Gha 1/610 ..." Is there therefore a difference between Ga and Gha? Thank you Simonschaim \(talk\)

'Ghar' (House)? 'Ghat'? But none of these seem very likely to me. --Soman \(talk\) 05:07, 13 July 2010 (UTC)

Those examples also differ in that one uses a hyphen between the numbers, and the other uses a slash. So gha and ga may be interchangeable too. They always seem to be followed by a small number and then a big number, and sometimes the whole thing is hyphenated (Gha-2-513). I can only assume that means door 513 of side alley 2. (That's a long alley. It might make more sense the other way round, with hundreds of short alleys in an area, all numbered, each with two or three buildings.) I've spotted something similar in Indian addresses, too, where the "Ga" comes between the two numbers: 1-Ga-8, or 2-Ga-12. 213.122.15.186 \(talk\) 14:17, 13 July 2010 (UTC)

Dear Ms. Myzlik,

I found your book "Escape from India" very interesting and I understand that it is very popular with the public at large.

On the basis of the text of this book, I have made an in depth study of the section of the book dealing with Ronen's escape, from the time he was in the JJ Hospital until he reached Ben-Gurion Airport. I enclose it as an attachment to this e-mail and ask whether you would be interested in publishing it as a supplement to your book.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

(Rabbi Dr.) Chaim Simons
